All-time high number of evictions in Denmark, 2007

Source: Boligen (magazine for Danish Housing Associations www.bl.dk)

For the fifth year in a row, the number of evictions of renters increased in Denmark, in 2007. All in all, 4,765 households were evicted in 2007. This was 200 more than in 2005, which also was noted as an all-time high.

In 2002, 2,919 households were evicted. Meaning that there has been a 53 percent increase in four years.

According to the Danish Court Administration (Domstolsstyrelsen) 94 percent of all evictions in 2007 derived from rent arrears.
